Profile Summary

I am a highly motivated and dedicated fresher engineering student pursuing a Bachelor of Technology in Computer Science Engineering. I possess strong technical skills in programming languages such as C, Java, and Python, along with proficiency in tools and platforms.

In addition to technical expertise, I bring excellent marketing and management skills, demonstrated through certification in Fundamentals of Digital Marketing by Google Skillshop. My leadership experiences as a cricket team captain and debate competition team leader reflect my ability to inspire teams and deliver results. I also actively participate in coding challenges and projects to continuously improve and apply technical knowledge.
